Plot Overview

"Lamb to the Slaughter" is a short story that deftly combines elements of domesticity, deception, and dark humor. The story revolves around Mary Maloney, a devoted wife who, upon hearing her husband Patrick's sudden announcement of wanting a divorce, descends into a state of shock and rage. In her impulsive fury, she kills Patrick with a leg of lamb—an everyday household item—then meticulously conceals her crime.

The subsequent narrative arc unfolds through the police investigation, during which Mary cleverly manipulates the detectives by offering them the murder weapon—the cooked lamb—as a meal, thus destroying any evidence of her guilt. The story concludes with an ironic twist: the police, unknowingly, consume the murder weapon, leaving Mary free and unpunished.

Narrative Style and Perspective

The story is narrated in the third person, primarily from an objective point of view that oscillates between the internal thoughts of Mary and the external observations of the detectives. This narrative choice allows Dahl to maintain a detached tone, which heightens the story's irony and dark humor.

Dahl's language is straightforward yet evocative, employing colloquial dialogue and simple descriptions that contrast sharply with the macabre subject matter. This stylistic approach lends an air of realism, immersing readers in the domestic setting while subtly building a sense of unease.
